

Community College of Aurora
Associate of Arts Degree/Transfer to the University of Colorado at Boulder
2002-2003

The requirements in the AA degree satisfy the lower-division core requirements with the exception of foreign language in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Colorado at Boulder only if the all of the general education core requirements are completed with a grade of 'C' or better. Students are required to complete the third level of foreign language in high school or college. Students intending to transfer should contact a Community College of Aurora advisor and a University of Colorado representative to assist you in developing a transfer program and in selecting appropriate, transferable electives. Students intending to major in engineering or architecture should plan on transferring earlier in the process, as many of the required courses for these majors are specific to CU-Boulder.

Note: normally, a maximum of 60 credits transfer, however, this number can vary by specific academic program. For admissions and other information about CU-Boulder, contact the Admissions Office at 303-492-6301 or visit their website at <http://www.colorado.edu>. Transfer information can be found at <http://www.colorado.edu/prospective/transfer/>.
